LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

DIVISION OF DOCUMENTS

The publications listed in this issue are those received by the Library of Congress during the month of January. State offices are requested to furnish copies of documents distributed during January which are not included in this number.

Unless otherwise specified, the offices which publish the documents here listed are located at the State capitals.

The publications of each State are arranged in the following order: (i) governor and legislature; (ii) departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions; (iii) courts; (iv) individual institutions and societies.

Library of Congress card numbers are given at the end of the titles for which they are available. When the card number is given in the larger type after the general title of a serial publication, it indicates that the card is an open entry for the publication as a whole. When the card number is given in the smaller type after a contents item, it indicates that the card is an analytic for that particular issue of the serial publication.

R. V. Magee, secretary.

"The State board of finance was created by chapter 302, public acts of 1915, section 3 defining its duties as follows: 'The several departments, boards, commissions and institutions supported by the state, or receiving state aid, shall, on or before the first day of October 1916, and biennially thereafter, submit to said board itemized estimates of their respective expenses, salaries, and disbursements for the two fiscal years next ensuing requiring appropriations therefor. Said board may hold hearings upon any such estimates and shall tabulate and report the same, with its recommendations thereon, if any, to the next session of the general assembly, not later than the second week thereof.' The board organized early in the year, and has held regular meetings since that time. The methods of several states were studied and blanks adopted similar to reports required by the Auditing department of Massachusetts. These reports are required from all departments, institutions and commissions receiving state aid, and ask for estimates of the necessary amounts needed for the next two years, the reason for increases, if any, the income from all other sources, the amount expended during the last fiscal year, the estimated amount of deficiencies to September 30, 1917, and an inventory of all property owned by the state and of institutions receiving state aid."

SPECIAL COMMISSION ON TAXATION. Report of the Special state commission appointed in 1915, on the subject of taxation, submitted to the General Assembly in 1917.

New Haven, 1917. 44 p. fold. table. 8°.

17-27073

"The Special commission on taxation [was] appointed by His Excellency the governor in 1915, under the resolution approved May 19th, 1915 (special acts of 1915, page 365) ... The objects for which it was constituted, as stated in that resolution, were 'to consider the subject of taxation, and to codify the law relating to taxation, and to report to the General Assembly the result of its investigations, with such recommendations for the enforcement of all laws relating to taxation, and for changes and new laws, as shall seem to said Commission advisable.' At the same session of the Assembly provision was made for the appointment of a salaried commission to revise and codify all the public laws of the state, which is to report to the Assembly at its present session. In view of this action, it seemed ... to be undesirable, as well as unnecessary for the Special commission on taxation to undertake any work of codification in a field otherwise so fully covered."

"The documents comprised in these two volumes are designed to illustrate and interpret the constitutional growth and development of the state of Indiana from the beginnings of its institutional history to the present. For the hundred years from 1816-1916, an attempt has been made to include every document of a constitutional character."

"The historical material comprised in this volume is a reprint of the historical introduction of the author's work on Constitution making in Indiana, which is a collection of constitutional documents covering the period from 1780-1916, inclusive, and which constitute the first and second volumes of the Indiana historical collections, published by the Indiana Historical commission. This work is designed as a brief, topical discussion of the subject of constitution making in Indiana. The first part of the volume covers the period under the constitution of 1816; as this is a closed historical episode, and as the illustrative material is relatively rarer and more inaccessible, it has been treated with greater fullness and substantially all sources of information have been drawn upon for material. The second part of the volume covers the period under the constitution of 1851. The primary sources of information for this period are practically inexhaustible, and no attempt has been made to treat the subject fully ... In the first part the treatment is chronological and evolutionary; in the second part the treatment is by subjects and it has been necessary to omit many subjects and the aspects of many subjects which are worthy of treatment."

W. H. Killian, secretary.

Contains: First annual report of Conservation commission.—Legislation proposed.—List of commissioners, staff, deputy commanders and inspectors.—Instructions to deputy commanders and inspectors.—Proceedings of Conference with Virginia Commission of fisheries.—Report of engineers of Maryland and Virginia on re-marking boundary line.—List of oyster leases in good standing.—Summary of opinions of attorney general.—Financial statement from June 5, 1916 to September 30, 1916.—Financial statement from September 30, 1916 to January 1, 1917.

"The Conservation commission of Maryland was created by the acts of 1916, chapter 682 (Maryland code, article 19-A as re-enacted). The Commission is charged with the execution of all laws relating to oysters, fish, crabs and game. The Commission supplants the Shell fish commission, the two fish commissioners, and the State conservation bureau, and assumes control over the State fishery force, the general and special inspectors of oysters, and the state game warden and deputy game wardens. The act creating this Commission is the outgrowth of a plan to reorganize the several independent departments heretofore charged with the various branches of conservation work, and to centralize the management of all such departments or agencies under one responsible head. The Commission assumed office June 5, 1916, on which date it established headquarters in the Munsey Building, Baltimore, Md., and announced its staff and clerical appointments."

"The Nebraska compensation law was passed by the thirty-third session of the Legislature (1913-1914) and was designated as 'Workmen's compensation law of 1913.' Under the provisions of the constitution the law would have been in effect July 18, 1913. Those opposed to making the principle of compensation for work accidents regardless of fault a part of the statute law of the state circulated a petition and the law was held in abeyance until after the referendum election in November, 1914. In the November election of 1914 the people of the state approved the law and compensation for work accidents regardless of fault became a part of the statutes of Nebraska, December 1, 1914, by a proclamation issued by Governor John H. Morehead as directed by the provisions of the initiative and referendum law."

W. E. Wallace, commissioner of labor.

"The office of commissioner of labor was created by an act of the Legislature of 1915. It provides that a member of the Nevada Industrial commission shall be designated as ex officio commissioner of labor. Under the law, the duties of the commissioner of labor are to gather statistics on fourteen different subjects. Some of these matters have been taken care of by other departments of the state government, and it is therefore believed that this office should be relieved of all work of gathering statistics on subjects which are attended to by other departments. In addition to the gathering of statistics, the enforcement of the labor laws of the state constitutes the scope of the work of the commissioner of labor."

——— Checklist of Wisconsin public documents for December 1916. Prepared by the Wisconsin State historical library. no. 1. [Issued January 1917.] [5] l. mimeographed. 4°. 17-27089

Prefatory remarks, Checklist of Wisconsin public documents for December 1916:

"The Wisconsin Historical library is empowered by statute to exchange the public documents of the state for those of other states and countries, and in addition, it 'may make such distributions of public printing, with or without exchange, as may accord with interstate or international comity.' In accordance with this general exchange authority for over half a century the Library has been engaged in building up a great public documents collection. It enjoys exchange relationship with many of the states of the Union, and is desirous of maintaining such relationship with all of them. To render its service more useful to the public, and in particular to its exchanges, the Library proposes to publish monthly, as long as such publication shall seem to demonstrate its usefulness, a checklist of the issues of public printing of the state of Wisconsin for the preceding month. This service is not intended to derogate in any way from that performed by the Library of Congress in issuing its Monthly List of State Publications. Useful as this list is, it necessarily fails to include many Wisconsin documents, and the editions of many which it does list are exhausted before those who rely on it for this information apply for them. These two matters,—greater promptness and comprehensiveness in listing,—the Historical library checklist seeks to realize. If you find the publication useful to you, ask to be put upon our permanent mailing list. If you desire to enter upon exchange relations with this Library, word to this effect will be welcomed. The checklist will be prepared under the immediate supervision of Mrs. Anna W. Evans, chief of our document division, thus ensuring for it a high degree of accuracy and comprehensiveness."

INSURANCE DEPT. Proposed insurance code for the territory of Hawaii.

Honolulu, 1916. 68, 4 p. fold. tables. fol. 17-27140

"This proposed code is based upon the insurance laws of Hawaii, retaining most of the present law in one form or another. Owing to the brevity of the laws of the Territory upon the subject of insurance it was necessary to add considerable new matter and this made it necessary to renumber some of the present sections or to re-write them as a part of the new sections in order to make a logical arrangement. In the preparation of this code frequent reference was made to the laws of many of the states and also to the recommendations of the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners. This code deals with all branches of insurance, and it is believed sufficient elasticity is provided to make amendments unnecessary for some years to come. To this end general provisions have been inserted in place of detailed provisions wherever possible. Through this means it has been possible to prepare a rather complete code which is at the same time much more brief than the laws of most states having as complete a code."

BUREAU OF STATISTICS. Decennial census, 1915. Bulletin no. 2. Issued March 7, 1917. [10] l. mimeographed. 4°.

no. 2. Population of the commonwealth by native and foreign born.

"The first bulletin embodying results of the census was issued on December 23, 1915, and consisted of a statement giving simply the results of the population count by cities and towns, classified by sex, and also the number of legal voters. Since then the Census office has been engaged in the necessary clerical and mechanical work incident to the editing, coding, punching, verifying, counting and classification of the individual and family schedules, over four and a half million in number, preliminary to tabulation. This stage of the work, involving a great amount of technical detail, is now approaching completion, and it is the intention of the director, as rapidly as the numerous units can be aggregated, to issue bulletins giving summaries of the results, accompanied by a brief analysis, to the press, and to make the same available in typewritten form in such detail as may be desired by individuals and organizations without obliging those who are dependent upon census data to await the appearance in print of the official publications. These preliminary bulletins—which will be subject to final verification and correction of clerical errors—will be for the most part, devoted to summaries of data bearing upon single subjects for the state as a whole, but persons desiring similar information for any particular city or town will be furnished the same upon application as soon as it can be transcribed."

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

DIVISION OF DOCUMENTS

The publications listed in this issue are those received by the Library of Congress during the month of April. State offices are requested to furnish copies of documents distributed during April which are not included in this number.

Unless otherwise specified, the offices which publish the documents here listed are located at the State capitals. If not located at the State capital, the location is given directly after the author entry.

The publications of each State are arranged in the following order: (i) governor and legislature; (ii) departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions; (iii) courts; (iv) individual institutions and societies.

Library of Congress card numbers are given at the end of the titles for which they are available. When the card number is given in the larger type after the general title of a serial publication, it indicates that the card is an open entry for the publication as a whole. When the card number is given in the smaller type after a contents item, it indicates that the card is an analytic for that particular issue of the serial publication.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

DIVISION OF DOCUMENTS

The publications listed in this issue are those received by the Library of Congress during the month of May. State offices are requested to furnish copies of documents distributed during May which are not included in his number.

Unless otherwise specified, the offices which publish the documents here listed are located at the State capitals. If not located at the State capital, the locality is given immediately after the author entry.

The publications of each State are arranged in the following order: (i) governor and legislature; (ii) departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions; (iii) courts; (iv) individual institutions and societies.

Library of Congress card numbers are given at the end of the titles for which they are available. When the card number is given in the larger type after the general title of a serial publication, it indicates that the card is an open entry for the publication as a whole. When the card number is given in the smaller type after a contents item, it indicates that the card is an analytic for that particular issue of the serial publication.

"During the session of 1916 the Legislature passed a bill creating, within the Department of labor, a Workmen's compensation aid bureau, charging it with the duty of reviewing every compensation settlement made under the provisions of the workmen's compensation act of 1911. It is the duty of this Bureau to approve all agreements in harmony with the statute, or to endeavor to bring about such an adjustment in event of dispute or failure to meet the compensation obligations. Failing to accomplish this the Bureau is authorized to certify the case to the Court of common pleas, and the act makes provision for caring for the injured person's interests without expense to him."

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

DIVISION OF DOCUMENTS.

The publications listed in this issue are those received by the Library of Congress during the month of June. State offices are requested to furnish copies of documents distributed during June which are not included in this number.

Unless otherwise specified, the offices which publish the documents here listed are located at the State capitals. If not located at the State capital, the locality is given immediately after the author entry.

The publications of each State are arranged in the following order: (i) governor and legislature; (ii) departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions; (iii) courts; (iv) individual institutions and societies.

Library of Congress card numbers are given at the end of the titles for which they are available. When the card number is given in the larger type after the general title of a serial publication, it indicates that the card is an open entry for the publication as a whole. When the card number is given in the smaller type after a contents item, it indicates that the card is an analytic for that particular issue of the serial publication.

DIVISION OF DOCUMENTS

The publications listed in this issue are those received by the Library of Congress during the months of July and August. State offices are requested to furnish copies of documents distributed during July and August which are not included in this number.

Unless otherwise specified, the offices which publish the documents here listed are located at the State capitals. If not located at the State capital, the locality is given immediately after the author entry.

The publications of each State are arranged in the following order: (i) governor and legislature; (ii) departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions; (iii) courts; (iv) individual institutions and societies.

Library of Congress card numbers are given at the end of the titles for which they are available. When the card number is given in the larger type after the general title of a serial publication, it indicates that the card is an open entry for the publication as a whole. When the card number is given in the smaller type after a contents item, it indicates that the card is an analytic for that particular issue of the serial publication.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

DIVISION OF DOCUMENTS

The publications listed in this issue are those received by the Library of Congress during the month of September. State offices are requested to furnish copies of documents distributed during September which are not included in this number.

Unless otherwise specified, the offices which publish the documents here listed are located at the State capitals. If not located at the State capital, the locality is given immediately after the author entry.

The publications of each State are arranged in the following order: (i) governor and legislature; (ii) departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions; (iii) courts; (iv) individual institutions and societies.

Library of Congress card numbers are given at the end of the titles for which they are available. When the card number is given in the larger type after the general title of a serial publication, it indicates that the card is an open entry for the publication as a whole. When the card number is given in the smaller type after a contents item, it indicates that the card is an analytic for that particular issue of the serial publication.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

DIVISION OF DOCUMENTS

The publications listed in this issue are those received by the Library of Congress during the month of October. State offices are requested to furnish copies of documents distributed during October which are not included in this number.

Unless otherwise specified, the offices which publish the documents here listed are located at the State capitals. If not located at the State capital, the locality is given immediately after the author entry.

The publications of each State are arranged in the following order: (i) governor and legislature; (ii) departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions; (iii) courts; (iv) individual institutions and societies.

Library of Congress card numbers are given at the end of the titles for which they are available. When the card number is given in the larger type after the general title of a serial publication, it indicates that the card is an open entry for the publication as a whole. When the card number is given in the small type after a contents item, it indicates that the card is an analytic for that particular issue of the serial publication.

BOARD OF LABOR AND STATISTICS, Baltimore. Twenty-fifth annual report of the Maryland State board of labor and statistics, 1916.

Baltimore, [1917]. 397 p. port. fold. maps. 8°. 8-32573
C. J. Fox, chairman.

"This the twenty-fifth annual report of the Maryland Bureau of statistics and information, represents the work accomplished during the first five months of the calendar year 1916, under that title, and the last seven months of the year represents the work of the Commission of the State board of labor and statistics, which dates from June 1st, 1916. The title of this Bureau was changed by the acts of 1916, chapter 406, which abolished the former Bureau and created the latter. . . As all the powers and duties of the Maryland Bureau of statistics and information were conferred upon, and are being exercised by the State board of labor and statistics, with some additional duties, it is considered advisable to continue the numeral order of the former reports with a view of avoiding confusion. In addition to the abolition of the Maryland Bureau of statistics, the General Assembly of Maryland also abolished the Ten-hour law bureau, and the Bureau of immigration, and imposed upon the State board of labor and statistics the duties which had been performed by those Bureaus, together with the enforcement of the state boiler inspection law for Baltimore City, the state mine inspection law for Allegany and Garrett Counties, and the establishment of free employment bureaus throughout the state."

BOARD OF CONTROL. A compilation of the laws of Minnesota relating to children, 1917. [By] William W. Hodson, director Children's bureau, State board of control.

St. Paul, [1917]. 185 p. 8°. 17-27420

"In the summer of 1916, Governor Burnquist appointed a commission to study the need for revising the existing laws which concerned children, and to formulate such new proposals as should be found necessary. The commission, under the leadership of Judge E. F. Waite of Minneapolis, embodied the results of its deliberations in forty-one bills which it submitted to the legislature at the Legislature at the session of 1917. The Legislature enacted thirty-five of the proposed measures into law ... The new laws place many additional duties upon the Board of control; for that reason ... the Board deemed it wise and necessary to gather all the laws of the state which concern children into a single volume for the use of workers in the field and all who may be interested. Hence this compilation which is simply a collection of Minnesota laws touching the lives and the welfare of children from the social point of view rather than in purely legal or business ways."

All About W. S. S.

What are They?

They are War Savings Stamps;

They are of two kinds:

United States Thrift Stamps (25c. each).

United States War Savings Stamps ($4.12 each).

Sixteen United States Thrift Stamps plus 12 cents in cash in December, 1917, or January, 1918, may be exchanged for a War Savings Stamp which, when affixed to a War Savings Certificate, is a Government obligation to pay the holder $5 on January 1, 1923.

War Savings Stamps are as safe as the United States.

Why Should I Buy Them?

Because—we are at war;

Because—the more we save, the more labor and material will be available for the use of the Government and for the support of our Army and Navy;

Because—we must have dollars as well as men in the fight for freedom;

Because—they establish the soundest and simplest basis of saving, which is the key to individual success;

Because—War Savings Stamps increase each month in value.

How Can I Buy Them?

As simply as buying postage stamps.

Any man, woman, or child who can save 25 cents can obtain at any post office or bank a United States Thrift Stamp and a Thrift Card to which to attach it.

Where Can I Buy Them?

At the Post Office, Bank, Trust Company, and many other authorized selling agencies.

When Shall I Buy Them?

Buy them now, because they cost one cent more every month after the 31st of January, 1918.

The sooner you buy them, the more you save.

The price of War Savings Stamps is as follows:

Jan.	$4.12	Apr.	$4.15	July	$4.18	Oct.	$4.21
Feb.	4.13	May	4.16	Aug.	4.19	Nov.	4.22
Mar.	4.14	June	4.17	Sept.	4.20	Dec.	4.23

Every Stamp helps to save a life.

Every Stamp will help to end the war.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

DIVISION OF DOCUMENTS

The publications listed in this issue are those received by the Library of Congress during the month of November. State offices are requested to furnish copies of documents distributed during November which are not included in this number.

Unless otherwise specified, the offices which publish the documents here listed are located at the State capitals. If not located at the State capital, the locality is given immediately after the author entry.

The publications of each State are arranged in the following order: (i) governor and legislature; (ii) departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions; (iii) courts; (iv) individual institutions and societies.

Library of Congress card numbers are given at the end of the titles for which they are available. When the card number is given in the larger type after the general title of a serial publication, it indicates that the card is an open entry for the publication as a whole. When the card number is given in the small type after a contents item, it indicates that the card is an analytic for that particular issue of the serial publication.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

DIVISION OF DOCUMENTS.

The publications listed in this issue are those received by the Library of Congress during the month of December. State offices are requested to furnish copies of documents distributed during December which are not included in this number.

Unless otherwise specified, the offices which publish the documents here listed are located at the State capitals. If not located at the State capital, the locality is given immediately after the author entry.

The publications of each State are arranged in the following order: (i) governor and legislature; (ii) departments, bureaus, boards, and commissions; (iii) courts; (iv) individual institutions and societies.

Library of Congress card numbers are given at the end of the titles for which they are available. When the card number is given in the larger type after the general title of a serial publication, it indicates that the card is an open entry for the publication as a whole. When the card number is given in the small type after a contents item, it indicates that the card is an analytic for that particular issue of the serial publication.
